FISHERS BUILD TOURING HOME

HOUSE ON WHEELS IS UNUSUAL-LY COMPLETE.

TO RIDE IN COMFORT

A Davenport Unfolds Into Two Berths.
—Only Thing Lacking Now Is A Place To Go.

J. L. Fisher and his son, Carl Le Roy, have nearly completed a house on wheels that, when finished, will be as convenient as most homes. Last November they conceived the idea of building a house on wheels in which to take a vacation trip this summer, and now that it is practically a reality, they are justly proud of it.

The car has a Dodge motor and transmission, a Ford ton truck rear end, and is built on a reinforced frame. The body is 13 feet 6 inches long, 6 feet 4 inches wide, and 8 feet 4 inches high, extreme dimensions, and has a slanting front. The lower half of the outside is finished in battleship grey and the upper half is finished in cream. The car is trimmed in black.

The walls on the inside are finished in two-tone grey and are trimmed in blue, and the ceiling is of natural wood. There are seven windows in the car, five drop windows and two stationary ones, besides the windshield. There will be screens on all windows, and the one on the windshield can be removed at will. The windows all will have double drapes to match the inside decoration, and there will be awnings on the two front windows. The others will have shades.

Built With Few Nails.
The entire body is built of three-ply panel board on an oak frame and is "glued and screwed." There are practically no nails in the structure.

But you should step inside! On the driver's left, there is a compartment for clothes, and in one side is a built-in radio and speaker. The aerial is woven along the underside of the roof. Then to the right of the driver there is another built-in cabinet. One half of it is for an ice box and the other half is for storage of cooking utensils. The top of this cabinet folds out to form a table, and a leaf on one end of the cabinet folds out for the gasoline stove.

Across the back is a large davenport finished in blue Spanish leather. The davenport lifts and folds outward so as to make an upper and lower berth. These berths are about the size of a pullman berth and the two of them together easily accommodate four persons. There will be three light wicker chairs and a driver's chair.

Several Electric Fixtures.
There are two dome lights, an electric fan, and several electric plugs in the car. It has a regular Dodge dash with a hydro-static gas gauge, two extension plugs, and a clock.

On the outside there are compartments all around the sides for supplies. On the back there are three built-in cabinets; one for a ten-gallon water tank, one for tires, and one for a ten-gallon oil tank. The car also carries a five-gallon reserve gas tank. When empty the entire structure weighs about 3750 pounds, and the estimated weight of it, when loaded, is two tons. There are anchor hooks around the top to be used in case of a severe storm.

The car is complete except for a few finishing details. The Fishers plan to take a trip sometime soon, but as yet they have not definitely decided where they will go.

Bluegrass Only a Half Normal Crop

17 to 17½ Cents Offered for Western
Grown Seed, Says Chicago
Trade Paper.

According to the Seed World of Chicago, reports indicate that Kentucky bluegrass will not make much more than a half normal crop, probably with 350,000 bushels as an outside figure. Reports indicate the early seed has been light and chaffy, and it has been reported that dealers are refusing green seed, and are not particularly interested.

It is reported that western bluegrass is making a good crop of heavy seed this year, and that offers of around 17 to 17½ cents for future delivery, f. o. b. shipping point, have been made. Some reports in Kentucky are to the effect that bluegrass stripping in central Kentucky started too early, strippers going in before seed was fully matured, and that it is such seed that the cleaners are refusing to buy.

Religious Groups at College Hold Meets

The religious organizations at the State Teachers College held their regular meetings yesterday morning. The first fifteen minutes of the Newman Club's meeting was spent in practicing the club song. Miss Irene Gabbert gave a reading, "The Gypsy Flower Girl."

Refreshments, Misses Margaret Franken, Marguerite Riley, Maude Walgemath, Anna Gorsuch, and Agnes Kennedy; transportation, Bernard Conway and Paul Shrader; entertainment, Miss Mae Sturm, Miss Genevieve Dietrich, and Miss Margaret Quinlin.

Miss Christine Goff sang "The Living God," by O'Hara, at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. This number was followed by a talk on the subject, "Would Jesus Sanction War?" which was given by Miss Christine Wagner. The attendance at the Y. W. C. A. meeting was not up to the standard, due to the meeting being held on the first day after vacation.

TO PICK ROAD BOARD LATER

COUNTY COURT DEFERS MAKING APPOINTMENTS.

SIXTEEN APPLICANTS

Court Wishes More Time to Consider Naming Highway Commission of Four Men Will Act August 1.

The four members of the Nodaway County highway commission will be appointed by the county court August 1, at the next regular monthly session of the judges.

This announcement was made this afternoon by Fred Wright, clerk of the county court from Burlington Junction, where the county judges with Mr. Wright, are signing right-of-way deeds with property owners for Highway No. 18.

The court is deferring making the appointment to the county road commission in order to give due consideration to the sixteen applicants, proposed by delegations at a meeting of the court here yesterday.

The county court is empowered to appoint the commission under a recent act of the General Assembly, providing that county highway commissions may be named in the various counties of the state system of roads. The court may not appoint more than two men to the board of the same political affiliation, and not more than two can be appointed from each county district.

Mr. Wright said the court was making good progress in getting right-of-way deeds for No. 18, and that all except four or five property owners had signed the deeds, transferring title to the land taken by the survey for the road, which starts in the east part of Burlington Junction, runs west through the town and in a southwesterly direction.

Quitman enjoyed a two-inch rain late yesterday, it was reported here today.

RAIN PROVES AID TO CORN

FARMERS ARE CHEERED BY LAST NIGHT'S SHOWER.

CROP HERE "SPOTTY"

Some Fields Are Ready to be "Laid
By," While Others Are Late or Have Poor Stands.

Today's the Hottest.
Today was the hottest day of 1927 to date.

J. R. Brink, official weather observer, reported that at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon the mercury had climbed to the 93-degree mark in the government thermometer.

Farmers over Nodaway County today were more hopeful for a corn crop this year, after a refreshing rain last night, varying from slightly less than half an inch to an inch.

J. R. Brink, official weather observer, reported .46 of an inch here, with a maximum temperature yesterday of 89.

The rain was heavier in the southern part of the county, Otis Lyle, who lives ten miles southwest of here, reporting an inch of rain. North of here ten miles the rain was slight.

The corn crop in the county this year is spotted, many fields, especially in the low places, being retarded by the heavy and persistent spring rains.

The farmers who were able to get in the fields early and who were not forced to replant one to three times, as some were compelled to do, have creditable stands, the corn in places being ready to put by.

The rain yesterday enhanced prospects for the backward corn to mature and greatly helped gardens, particularly the potato crop, which was sadly in need of moisture.

The only thing feared now by the farmers who have corn up to normal is the Missouri corn borer, which has been eating into the stalks in several fields in the northeast and northwest portions of the county.

Nodaway County will not have so large a return this year from the corn as in the past two years. Roy Lippman, who lives southeast of the city, ventured this morning. The fields are so irregular and so retarded in places that some corn may not mature before early frosts, Mr. Lippman believes. However, he was greatly pleased with the precipitation last night. It came at an opportune time, after two weeks of high temperatures and strong, drying winds.

Late oats were helped considerably by the rain. Mr. Lippman said, although he had seen some fields nearly ready for the binder.

Wind Blows Down Big Tree and Light Pole

The wind storm accompanying the rain here about 7 o'clock last night caused a large tree on the property of Mrs. Anna Beattie, to fall at Seventh and Walnut streets. An electric light and telephone pole and wire also was blown down.

Guilford Has Hail

Mrs. Ferguson Denies
Blame for Accident

The automobile accident Monday in which S. A. Kepner of Clarinda, Ia., was badly injured, was not the fault of B. K. Ferguson, with whose car that of Mr. Kepner collided, according to a statement today by Mrs. Ferguson.

Mrs. Ferguson said that Mrs. Bessie Thorp, who was driving the Iowa car, crossed to the wrong side of the road. The Democrat-Forum's account of the accident did not attempt to fix responsibility.

Mrs. W. A. Smith will leave tomorrow for Kemmerer, Wyo., where she will spend the remainder of the summer with her daughter, Mrs. L. J. Schabel, and family.

LIBERIA PAYS WAR DEBT TO U. S. IN FULL

Payment of $35,600 by Small African Republic Brings Congratulations
From Mellon.

Washington, July 6.—Liberia today paid in full its war debt to the United States.

The minister of the small African republic tendered to Acting Secretary of the Treasury Mellon a check for $35,600, paying off the principal and accrued interest.

A letter from Secretary Mellon congratulating Liberia on being the first country to liquidate its obligations resulting from the World War was made public.

Mr. Mellon pointed out that the settlement bore as heavily on the tiny republic—with its 4,000,000 population—as larger debt fundings bear on Great Britain and Italy.

BRITAIN AND U. S. CLOSER

AGREEMENT APPEARS NEAR ON CRUISER LIMITATION.

TONNAGE FIGURES UP

American Delegation Hikes Maximum
From 300,000 to 400,000—A Compromise.

Geneva, July 6.—Great Britain and the United States delegations at the naval armaments conference apparently were nearing an agreement today on total cruiser tonnage.

The American delegation had agreed to raise its maximum tonnage figure from 300,000 to 400,000 tons and a statement from W. E. Bridgeman, first lord of the British admiralty had indicated that his commission might meet or approach the American compromise.

Bridgeman refused to confirm reports that the British delegation was demanding 580,000 tons of cruisers, thus leaving the way open for a reduction in the figure first reported submitted by Great Britain's representatives.

GANG CHIEF'S TRIAL BEGINS

CHARLEY BIRGER INTO COURT
WITHOUT HIS MACHINE GUN.

ACCUSED OF MURDER

Leader of Sanguinary Warfare in "Little Egypt" Is Heavily Guarded.

Benton, Ill., July 6.—While scores of deputy sheriffs, heavily armed, paced back and forth as a warning gesture against any gangsterism, Charley Birger—who became the war lord of southern Illinois gangdom—went on trial today for murder.

Along with Art Newman and Ray Hyland, former members of the Birger gang in the vicious guerilla warfare of southern Illinois, Birger is charged with being responsible for the killing of Mayor Joe Adams of West City.

The shooting of Adams was just one of a score of murders attributed to the gang war, which lasted for almost two years.

Birger and his two former aides were brought into the courtroom under heavy guard.

The first move in the trial came when the defense attorneys asked that the indictments against the three be quashed.

"Machine Gun Charley."

Benton, Ill., July 6.—Charley Birger confronted the law today without the aid of his trusty machine gun.

The famed Southern Illinois gang leader—whose exploits in the sanguinary warfare of "Little Egypt" gave him the title of "Machine Gun" Charley—was brought into court to stand trial for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City. It was one of the many deaths attributed to the gang warfare between the Shelton and Birger groups.

Birger was one of the main figures mentioned when the rat-tat of machine gun was feared throughout Williamson, Franklin and Saline counties. Short of stature, with a cynical smile and a loquaciousness that approached braggadocio, he headed the famous Birger gang which centered at "Shady Rest," a road house near Harrisburg and Marion.

This roadhouse was one of the most picturesque of spots in Southern Illinois. It was situated deep in a grove. Electric lights sprayed daylight about the place even at night. Generally an armored motor car could be seen standing in front.

Practiced Marksmanship.
In the rear there was a rifle range where members of the Birger gang practiced marksmanship with everything from army automatics to machine guns.

Always heavily armed guards were on duty in front of the place.

Once the roadhouse was bombed by airplane, but the bombs fell short. Later bombs shattered the place and four members of the gang were killed in either explosion or the fire which ruined the building.

Birger evaded arrest and talked himself out of situations time and again. But Mayor Adams, said to have been friendly to Carl, Bernie and Earl Shelton, was killed.

Two youths called at the Adams home, which is on one of the main highways leading to Benton. It was on a calm fall Sunday afternoon. They presented a letter presumably from Carl Shelton.

As the 300 pound mayor strolled to the door the two youths started shooting. Adams fell dead.

Subsequently Harry Thomasson—brother of Elmo who was one of the men killed in the destruction of Shady Rest—was arrested and confessed that he and his brother had killed Adams. He said the killing was at Birger's command and that they were given $50 each for the shooting. Birger was indicted.

A Machine Gun Into Jail.

For several days there was question of how Birger was to be arrested. He was in Saline county. Finally he submitted to arrest and even took a machine gun with him into the Saline County jail through fear that some of his enemies might attempt to take his life.

Later he was brought to Benton and still later removed to Springfield and Bloomington after subsequent confessions had involved him in even more brutal murders.

The removal to Springfield came after Art Newman, one time his lieutenant, had said he watched Birger machine gun Lory Price—state highway patrolman—to death. Mrs. Price also was killed and according to Newman the killing was at Birger's command.

Birger with several of his lieutenants was indicted in the Price murder. Some difficulty is expected in selection of a jury as popular resentment has arisen throughout Franklin County to the gang chief.

Oklahoma Farmer Sues as Result of

FALL, DOHENY
TO BE TRIED

JUDGE RULES THEY MUST ANSWER TO BRIBERY CHARGES.

FAILS TO SET A DATE

Defense Attacks on Indictments Declared Faulty.—Famous $100,000
"Loan" Involved.

Washington, July 6.—Former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, E. L. Doheny, sr., oil magnate, and his son, E. L. Doheny, jr., must stand trial on bribery charges in connection with the famous $100,000 oil scandal transaction of November 30, 1921. Judge William Hitt ruled in District of Columbia Supreme Court.

Hitt overruled demurrers interposed by the three defense attacking two indictments as invalid.

No date was set for trial.

One indictment charged the two Dohenys with giving the $100,000 to Fall then secretary. The other charged Fall with accepting the same alleged bribe, intended to influence his official acts.

Justice Hitt stated the grounds upon which the indictments were attacked were faulty.

The oil men argued that since President Harding's executive order transferring naval oil reserve jurisdiction to the Interior Department was invalid, Fall was unauthorized to lease the Elk Hills oil reserve to Doheny's company; hence that since he had no official power to act, he could not be bribed to do something he was powerless to do.

Hitt said both Fall and the Dohenys acted on the assumption the Harding order was valid and hence that a crime could be charged.

The revelation of the transfer of the $100,000 which young Doheny brought to Washington in a famous satchel described as "a little black bag," or a "brown satchel," created a sensation when it was discovered in 1923 by the Senate oil investigation committee.

Doheny admitted he gave Fall the money but declared it was a personal loan between friends. Fall gave as security a personal note, which was torn in two. Half of it was given Mrs. Doheny, "to protect Fall from embarrassment, in case anything should happen to us."

The government has indicated it would press for trial on every one of the indictments.

Commander Would Explore Interiors of Country With Fleet of Multimotored Seaplanes.

Paris, July 6.—Charles A. Levine, speaking at an Anglo-American newspaper luncheon today, announced definitely that he would fly back to New York this month with a French pilot.

Levine said he had requested Chamberlin to pilot his plane on the return trip but Chamberlin had declined, explaining that he had previously accepted contracts in the United States.

Levine said he had chosen a pilot from among five French applicants and would announce his name as soon as a contract was actually signed.

It was reported late today that Costes, French aviator whose distance record Levine and Chamberlin broke, would be Levine's pilot on the New York flight.

Byrd to Fly Over Brazil.

Paris, July 6.—An exploration flight over Brazil by a fleet of multi-motored seaplanes may be Commander Richard E. Byrd's next activity after his South Pole trip, he said today in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

Opening of a vast unexplored area of tremendous potential wealth in the Brazilian interior, was visualized by Byrd through an expedition that would map the area, particularly rivers, by aerial photographs.

"I have often studied the possibilities of undertaking an exploration through the heart of Brazil," the commander said. "But that would come after my flight across the South Pole."

"It would be necessary to organize the undertaking carefully, with a fleet of planes, each capable of continuing even if one engine went bad," Byrd added.

Borer Now in Kansas

Pleasant Hill Farmer's Take Samples
Of Damaged Corn To Secretary Of

Topeka, Kan., July 6.—The European corn borer scare hit Kansas today for the first time since the worm was credited with the destruction of corn.

J. W. Todd and Horace Adams, Pleasant Hill farmers, brought samples of corn to the office of J. C. Mohler, secretary of the State board of agriculture, along with unidentified worms which had been damaging the grain.

Experts at the state agriculture college were sent for to determine if the worm is in reality the dreaded borer. While no one here could give expert opinion on the matter, fear was expressed that the borer may be in Kansas.

KEEPING THE FAITH.

(St. Joseph News-Press.)
Celebrating the Fourth of July is one of the best things Americans do when they celebrate it in the proper spirit. Political independence is a blessing that we owe not alone to the founders of the republic, but also to ourselves, so far as we have kept the faith. But unless such independence as we have inherited improves in quality under our custody, then the national outlook is less bright than it should be.

The United States, powerful as it is physically and morally, cannot keep its power stationary. That power must increase, or it will decrease. Therefore the American people today cannot wisely overlook the need of so shaping their course as to bring growth in moral power along with growth in moral physical power. This requires that the country shall follow out enlightened policies based on good will, as exemplified in our present effort to induce the nations to reduce armaments and to maintain open doors for all honorable transactions. The United States everywhere must live up to its moral standards and its ideals of freedom, or those standards and ideals necessarily will suffer.

On this, the one hundred fifty-first anniversary of the signing of the declaration of independence, it might be well to examine some of our tendencies, and to ask ourselves what their ultimate effect is likely to be. There is the tendency, for example, to neglect the right and duty of suffrage, on the mistaken theory that it is not worth while to vote. Whippings by hooded bands are becoming alarmingly frequent in some quarters, as is peonage, lynchings, and efforts at private enforcement of public laws. There are symptoms of a widespread tendency on the part of some Americans to become inquisitors instead of remaining free exponents of democracy. Hatred, suspicion and intolerance are passions that have brought Europe to its present lamentable pass. Unless we are warned against them, and unless we heed the warning, we shall wake to find ourselves far removed from the practical idealism that is the basis of our national unity.

We cannot act selfishly, individually or as a people, and continue to think in terms of justice.

Once Nearly Extinct Eider Duck Again Is Flourishing

Washington, July 6. Eider ducks in the shadow of extinction, are doing a come-back, thanks to the protection of the Canadian Government, according to the American Nature Association. This is the duck that plucks down from her breast to keep her young warm.

Arthur Newton Pack, Associate editor of Nature Magazine, informed the Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister, he had received a telegram from Howard H. Cleave of the Association at Wolfbay, Quebec, reporting on his investigation. The telegram from Cleave says:

"Eider ducks numerous along Canadian Labrador coast due to excellent protection by the government. I have seen more than two thousand breeding birds in ten days cruising. Hundreds of them in each of four sanctuaries cited to date. From one hill top I saw 375. Nesting birds flew up on all sides. Despite lingering snow banks and passing icebergs some eiders have hatched. This fine bird is making wonderful recovery from shadow of extinction and with good weather there will be a large increase this year."

"This is certainly good news," Pack wrote to Minister Massey, "and on behalf of the thousands of members of the American Nature Association, I want to thank the Canadian Government."

"Eider ducks on the great breeding grounds in Labrador were nearing extinction because of constant collection of eggs and killing of adult birds for their feathers and down. Before 1870 vessels were fitted out in New England for this purpose."

"When there were young in the nests the old birds were molting their flight quills and unable to fly. Men surrounded, drove them together and killed them with clubs, leaving the helpless young to perish. All this for feathers alone, for the birds had no food value."

"For a number of years this went on until the birds were so reduced as to make feather hunting unprofitable. During this time and ever since egggers, fishermen and settlers have destroyed both birds and eggs until the vast eider nurseries are a mere memory and we are importing our eider down from the more humane people of the old world."

"In Norway and Iceland where these birds are protected they become almost as tame as domesticated fowls, nesting places are made in the turf or among stones and some of them even nest on the sod roofs of houses. The mother bird plucks the down from her breast, felt it into a mantle which not only lines the nest but extends up so that she can cover the eggs when leaving the nest."

Cameron Raises Its Half of $30,000 Fund

Missouri Wesleyan College Won't Have To Close And Prospects Are Excellent, Says Head.

Announcement has been made by E. J. Gale, president of Missouri Wesleyan College, that Cameron, Mo., the college site, has completed the task of raising $15,000 to enable Missouri Wesleyan to take care of an accumulated deficit.

This is in addition to $15,000 to be raised outside of Cameron, for which subscriptions now are being taken.

Contradicting "unfortunate reports" that the college might have to close, President Gale declares the prospect for students at Missouri Wesleyan was never better than now, and that indications are that there will be a larger enrollment next year.

Rain Fails to Dampen Either Scouts' Camp or Their Spirits

Members of Maryville Boy Scout Troop No. 1 today were recounting their experiences in an overnight camp last night near the Elm Grove school house, about three miles from the city.

The boys gained valuable experience in trenching their tents to keep out the heavy rain which fell shortly after they had finished mess. Hardly any of the equipment and none of the boys got wet, John G. Mutz, scoutmaster, said this morning.

Mr. Mutz said the camp proved a valuable preliminary for the boys who will go August 8 on a ten-day camp with the St. Joseph area scouts at Camp Brinton.

After things were straightened up after the rain last night, Mr. Mutz and Chester Lyle, assistant scoutmaster, treated the scouts to a marshmallow roast, and what was left over was consumed his morning. "I never knew how good they could taste," Mr. Mutz said this morning.

By the time the marshmallows were consumed the boys were ready to turn in for the night. First call this morning was at 5 o'clock, followed by setting up exercises.

The troop was sent to a well in patrols to "wash up," and then breakfast followed.

Each scout took enough food for four meals, and the breakfasts varied from bacon, ham and eggs to pancakes. William Stilwell perhaps proved the best "chef" when it came to flipping pancakes, was the report, and did it up in real camp style. Some of the other pancakes, it was said, were not just exactly "like mother used to make."

The next job was to police the grounds, after which the scouts were given a free hour.

Under the supervision of Harold Braun, the scouts participated in signal work, craft work, lessons in tree leaves and then prepared for mess.

The boys broke camp shortly after noon and trudged back to the city, ending the first overnight camp for the Maryville troop.

Another camp will be held soon, Mr. Mutz said this morning. The time will depend upon weather conditions.

Elizabeth Mills in Senior Voice Recital

Technique, Interpretation And Stage Presence Of Soprano Please.—
Wide Range In Program.

Bernhardt Bronson, head of the voice department of the Conservatory of Music at the State Teachers College, presented Miss Elizabeth Mills, soprano, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. O. Mills of Grant City, in a senior voice recital at the college auditorium this morning.

Miss Mills showed a style of very clear technique, a depth of feeling in her interpretation, and a stage presence of ease. The recital program this morning represented a wide range of vocal literature. It opened with an aria of the old Italian school from the oratorio, "Judith Maccabaeus," by Handel. The old Italian school is characterized by very florid music. After this came a group of songs by Franz, representing the romantic period. The last song in this group, "Autumn," was probably appreciated more than the rest.

Next came a group of songs representing the modern French school. Miss Mills was particularly at ease in "Tristesse le steppe," by Gretcheninoff, in this group. "L'Ete," by Chaminade, also was enjoyed very much by the audience. The aria "Plus grand dans son obscurite," the big soprano aria from the "Queen of Sheba" by Gounod, followed. This aria, as well as the group preceding, was sung in French. The aria is a very beautiful and singable composition and was exceptionally well done. Miss Mills closed her recital with a group of representative American songs. The audience expressed its appreciation of this group by hearty applause.

Miss Mills was accompanied by her sister, Miss Margaret Mills, to whom much credit must be given for the excellent manner in which she played the accompaniments. The program would be a credit to an experienced singer.

Miss Mills will teach voice and public school music in Southwestern University at Georgetown, Tex., next year. Dean Henry Myer, head of the conservatory of music there, is a former pupil of Mr. Bronson.

TEAPOT DOME DISAPPOINTS

OIL PRODUCTION THERE FAR BELOW EARLY ESTIMATES.

SINCLAIR WAS FOOLED

Capacity of Oil Reserve Figuring in Famous Trial Now Put About 80 Per Cent Lower.

Washington, July 6.—The strip of oil land over which one of the biggest criminal trials in the country's history will be waged here this fall, the now famous Teapot Dome naval reserve in Wyoming, has proved far less valuable than was thought by Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate and sporting figure, when he leased it from former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall.

Sinclair learned from estimates of Geological Survey experts in the senatorial investigation three years ago that the reserve was less than a fourth as rich as he had supposed when he made the lease. Subsequent estimates have placed the probable output below that estimate.

The estimate at the time Sinclair leased the reserve was a probable production of 135,000,000 barrels of oil. This was the figure of the Bureau of Mines. Experts of the Geological Survey who testified in the senate investigation put the figure at about 30,000,000 barrels, quite a come-down.

Now, the estimate is between 14,000,000 and 20,000,000 barrels.

Water, Not Oil.

The first high figure was exploded when it was discovered that the so-called first wall creek of the reserve contained water, not oil. The Bureau of Mines had estimated a production of 50,000,000 barrels from this section, now proved barren. The second wall creek does contain oil, but not nearly so much as the Bureau of Mines had figured, which was 85,000,000 barrels. The experts of the Geological Survey were aware of the water content of the first wall creek when they appeared before the senate committee.

From the time wells first were drilled on the reserve following Sinclair's lease signed April 7, 1922, a total of 3,376,28 barrels of oil had been taken out through the end of May, this year, both by Sinclair and the government, the latter having held the lands in receivership since March 13, 1924.

This amount, which would meet the peace time requirements of the navy for only about six months does not represent the possible output of the wells, as the navy, during the receivership, has merely kept the reserve in status quo, pending outcome of the civil suit for cancellation of the lease now in the Supreme Court. This oil has been sold.

Only Two New Wells.

Only two wells have been drilled since the receivership, off-set wells to prevent drainage. These were comparatively small wells, first producing about 75 barrels a day and now only about eight or ten barrels a day.

Over $5,000,000 has been realized from the sale of oil from the Teapot Dome reserve. Under the Sinclair jurisdiction, the total sales were $2,221,000, of which the government received $342,000 in royalties. Since the receivership, about $5,000,000 has been received for oil sales. If the government wins its suit finally for cancellation of the lease, it will receive all of this $3,000,000. Otherwise, it will receive a royalty of about one-eighth.

The policy of the navy as regards its oil reserves is to keep the oil in the ground for future use. Since the cancellation of the Elk Hills, Calif., lease, which E. L. Doheny secured from Fall, production has stopped entirely on that rich reserve, and an agreement has been negotiated with private operators on lands outside whereby they will compensate the government for any increase in their output due to drainage from the government reserve.

Tiny Beside Elk Hills.

The Teapot Dome reserve becomes almost insignificant when compared with the Elk Hills reserve, which it is estimated will produce about two billion barrels.

The Navy Department has not decided yet what it will do if the government wins the suit for cancellation of the Sinclair lease for Teapot Dome, but it is presumed it will shut down production beyond that necessary to keep the reserve in order. There is a possibility that the reserve may prove somewhat richer than thought. The estimates of an output of 14,000,000 to 20,000,000 barrels does not take account of the lower sands in the reserve, which may contain oil. The possibility is based on the existence of oil in the lower sands in other parts of the Salt Creek Field, which are operated by private interests.

"Uncle" Dave Bolick, Skidmore, Writes Story of Nodaway River

"Uncle" Dave Bolick of Skidmore has written an autobiography of the Nodaway River. "Uncle" Dave, who is blind, writes articles every now and then.

And according to "Uncle" Dave, this is what the Nodaway has to say for itself:

Nodaway means sleepy or drowsy, an Indian name.

"There seems to be a great demand for the true to life stories, therefore I shall let the Nodaway River take the stump in its own behalf.

"While I was just a little lerie of telling the history of my life, I thought since the ordinary flapper has been able to get her life in some of the leading magazines it would not be out of order to mention a few facts about my life.

"I was one of the earliest settlers of the States of Iowa and Missouri. Yes, I was here ahead of the Indians. I often wondered if there were ever going to be any one here to catch the fish, that were flowing around the clear water that had rippled over the many shining rocks, which I kept clean all the time, for I would never let any thing come in my bed that would make it dirty.

"Yes I remember well the morning I started. I was just a long crooked streak marked down through the rocks and dirt, there was nothing in my body, the next morning nature begin to feed me and all she would give me was water. I was very thirsty and could not get too much of the fluid. As soon as I was filled with water, wild animals would come and drink of the nice fresh water that I furnished them. After that the Indians came and they would come and catch some of the fish, but not very many and they were very careful not to throw anything in the water that would form any dirt or drift wood and the bed in this way was kept clean so the water could flow freely. For centuries the fish and the wild animals got along fine, then nature beautified my banks with beautiful trees this formed a shade and kept the water cool. Later years the white man came and he is the one that has destroyed my beauty and ruined the country, he is a menace to the country. He soon began to till the soil, when he did this lots of mud would collect in my bed. Now there is nothing showing of the many nice shining rocks and muscles that I used to be so proud of. I no longer have them. The beautiful high banks I once possessed, I just must tell you a little about the terrible time I have encountered in my life.

"I naturally was a very proud little river, for nature had placed me in one of the richest and nicest valleys in all the land. Both sides of my banks were lined with beautiful trees, many kinds of which I shall mention, the oak, walnut, sycamore, maple, elm, cottonwood, lynn, birch, and many others.

"It will be very interesting to learn that I was the first to be on this pretty valley, and was the only witness to see all these pretty trees growing from the seed to large trees. It is amusing to me when I hear some of the old timers here speak of the early settlers, for I poured the first gallon of water in the Missouri river from Nodaway and Holt Counties then helping to start the Father of Waters by adding my little bit to the tributary of the great stream. The white men thought I was too crooked and found fault with me, they have straightened me out in several places using large dredge boats so I would not overflow the valley. The crooks made it possible for me to hold in reserve a large amount of water which I used for sub-irrigation and also furnish water for the wells.

"The white man destroyed the trees so they could till the fertile soil. He also improved the native cattle and hogs. This native stock soon destroyed the seeds and small tender trees that were placed there by nature. The wild animals had to go as there were no hiding places and the birds too were forced to leave as there were no trees left for them to nest, for the timber was being destroyed very rapidly. The white man did not steal all my beauty, I still have the name of having the most beautiful banks and scenery of any stream in the state.

"For many years I have furnished skating places for the young boys and girls. I doubt if there is any stream in the state that has furnished so many modern swimming places for the boys and girls. My fish are as fine and fresh as can be grown. I doubt if there is any stream in the state that can boast of all these natural amusements. If you have not yet taken a trip out to the Nodaway River, "fishing," "swimming," and "picnicing," or to gather walnuts, flowers or wild grapes in the fall, you have not had the pleasure of what is in store for you.

"The next time you have a few hours to spare and don't know where to go, just crank up the old car and take a trip out to the old Nodaway River, it is the most beautiful spot in the entire state. Take your kodak along and take some snap shots where the trees on both sides of the banks form almost a complete arch over the water. You will never be without picnic grounds if you once take a trip out to the Nodaway River, for there are many nice beautiful spots that are waiting to welcome you.

"Anytime when you are wanting an honest-to-goodness mess-of-fish, take your hooks and go out to the old Nodaway, halt them, sit on a stump or a flat rock and haul in the nice fresh fish, then make a camp fire and have a real outing for there is nothing that affords such a pleasure as does such an outing."

A Thousand Miles— Two Thousand Miles —Without Draining!

Motorists everywhere in the Middle West are running up records with Iso-Vis. Thousands of them are writing in surprise and appreciation to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to tell the good news of Iso-Vis performance.

One motorist calls Iso-Vis a "peace of mind" motor oil. It is a peaceful feeling to know that the motor is perfectly protected by an oil which maintains a practically constant viscosity—that will stay on the job from start to finish—preventing wear and tear in the engine—preventing trouble—making every mile of motoring smooth! Iso-Vis—the constant viscosity motor oil—gives you that certain knowledge.

Iso-Vis is made in different grades—to meet the requirements of every type of engine. Use the grade recommended for your car. Under normal operating conditions the oil level should be checked every 100 miles. Keep the crankcase at least three-quarters full. If this precaution is taken, a complete draining and flushing of the motor oil once each 1000 miles is all that is necessary.

With new cars equipped with effective oil filtering devices, draining once each 2000 miles or more is sufficient!

Iso-Vis costs more per quart but motorists have found that it costs less per mile. It lasts longer and wears better! Taxi companies have found that by using Iso-Vis they are able to reduce repair bills and to cut the cost of lubrication.

You'll appreciate the efficiency of Iso-Vis (30c per quart). Try it once—and motoring will hold new pleasures. Iso-Vis "F" for Fords.

Burlington Junction

(By J. Howard Thompson)

W. F. Vance of Mound City was in town last Saturday for a few hours looking after some business matters. There was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, in southeast Burlington Junction, a daughter last Friday night. This is the second daughter and second child for this young couple. All seem to be getting on in fine shape.

Our people went from here to various communities to celebrate the Fourth of July. Some went to Rock Port, some to Oregon, some to Maryville, and some to Clarinda, while others formed picnic parties, and hid themselves to the woods for a day of outing and still others remained quietly at home pursuing the ordinary duties of the day.

Next Sunday will be the last Sunday Rev. J. Howard Thompson will hold services in the Methodist Church until he returns from his vacation, which will begin next Sunday afternoon, when he with Mrs. Thompson will start on their western trip to be gone four weeks. He will return for services Sunday morning, August 14. While he is gone the Rev. Lane Douglas will preach the morning service July 17, and Sunday morning, July 24, Karl Kettering and his gospel team of Maryville will have charge of the service. Sunday, July 31, will be Chautauqua Sunday and there will be no service on that day except Sunday School. The next Sunday will be vacation day, and no services will be held except the Sunday School.

The service Battery will leave for Camp at Fort Riley, Kan., on Sunday July 17th, and will go by auto, via Maryville, St. Joseph and Kansas City. En route they will be joined by the companies at Maryville, Albany, and St. Joseph. At Kansas City, they will be joined by the entire regiment, remaining over night, then on to Fort Riley Monday morning. They will be in camp sixteen days.

Definite plans are now being made for the best chautauqua ever held in Burlington Junction. The program, as now arranged, is of high character, and one that will greatly please. The dates are July 29, 30, 31 and August 1 and 2. There are a hundred guarantees this year and that within its self ought to create a deep interest. L. Roy Sims will be the local manager.

The Rev. J. Howard Thompson was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank West Monday evening to christen their four younger children. The names of the children, baptised are Franklin G., George Edward, Dorothy May and Virginia Sue.

W. N. Houston, one of the leading farmers and cattle feeders of the community was on the St. Joseph market a few days ago with a car load of Black Angus cattle of his own feeding, and topped the market with them. They were what is known among feeders as "Long Yearlings," and were in very fine shape. Mr. Houston has yet in his yards sixty-five head, which he is feeding, and will soon have them ready for the market as well.

Miss Pauline Walker returned from a three weeks visit in Oklahoma City and Okmulgee, Okla., Monday afternoon. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allen and two children, Margaret Anne, and Jack, of Oklahoma City, who will visit relatives here for a few days. Mrs. Allen is a sister of Judge Charles Walker and Miss Anna Walker of Burlington Junction.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Houston had a "home coming" at their home one mile northeast of town Sunday, when all their children and grandchildren came home for Sunday dinner. The children and grandchildren, son-in-laws and daughters-in-law are: Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scott and three children of Maryville, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Houston, and two daughters of Burlington Junction, and Mr. and Mrs. John Houston and daughter, one mile east of town, and Miss Anna and Lewis Houston at home with the parents. They had a special guests Mr. and Mrs. E. S. R. Gillett and niece, of Hiawatha, Kan. Mr. Gillett is a brother of Mrs. Houston. The occasion is an annual event with Mr. and Mrs. Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. John Houston had for their Fourth of July guests Miss Lena Catherine Alton and Fred Deardorf, both of Kansas City. The young people came Sunday afternoon, and returned home Monday evening. Mrs. Houston, and Miss Alton have been intimate friends for a number of years. Miss Alton was bridesmaid at the time of Mrs. Houston's marriage.

Mount Wilson, in California, claims to have the largest telescope in the world. Through it man may look trillions of miles into space. By its power he is able to see stars separated from him by the distance light could travel, in 72,000 years on the basis that light travels in a single year five trillion, eight hundred billion miles. By looking through it he can distinguish millions of Suns, each with its family of planets rotating around it. It takes the mind to its fullest limits to comprehend such immensities in space. The writer will visit Mount Wilson within a week or two, and avail himself of the opportunity of looking through its lenses.

The writer on his return from the Summer School of Theology, recently held in Cameron, stopped at the State Hospital for the insane in St. Joseph, and visited John R. Bales, who went to the hospital from Burlington Junction last February. Mr. Bales suffered a severe stroke of paralysis last August while at work, hanging paper, and has never recovered. He is yet unable to speak, and fully realized the seriousness of his condition. He is comfortable and seemingly happy in his new home. He is being well cared for.

Oliver P. Stafford was taken very ill a few days ago at his home in the west part of town. He is past eighty-five years old. He is a soldier of the Civil War, a member of the 8th Iowa Cavalry, Company "A." He was born in Platte County, Mo., and when a child he with his parents moved to Page County, Ia., where he grew to manhood. He has been an honored citizen of Nodaway County many years.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jeffreys of Coin, Ia., and son of Atlanta, Mo., and with his wife made a visit to his son's home, and on his return to Coin, stopped off for a few days visit, with Henry Staples and family. Mr. Jeffreys is an uncle to Mr. Staples. He reports the prospect for a corn crop fairly good around Coin.

Mr. and Mrs. Lou Monk are receiving the congratulations upon the successful promotion of their son, Paschal, to the presidency of the Missouri Conference Epworth League organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. The office carries with it a trip to the National Epworth League Institute, to be held this coming winter in Birmingham, Ala. Paschal, himself is to be congratulated, on his marked achievement.

Santa Rosa, Cal., boasts in having a Church Building, erected by the Baptist people, the entire building material of which, came from a single tree from the forests near by. The church is sixty feet wide and one hundred feet long, and has a seating capacity of 400. After the Church was completed and ready for use there was fully one third of the tree left, which included a surplus of 60,000 shingles, to be used elsewhere. The writer will see some of these trees now in a few days, and will visit Santa Rosa, and see the Church Building.

Herschel Boyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Boyer, is nursing an ugly gash in his forehead, as a result of an accident while trying to crank a Buick car belonging to Herman Miller. While in the act of cranking the car the crank flew off striking him in the head just above the left eye. The wound was so deep and painful as to need the attention of a surgeon to dress it. However, the lad after a few hours of cessation from work, is back on the job again, as though nothing had happened him.

Iowa Pair Wed Here Despite Late Hour

A Missing Car Adds to Difficulties of Creston Couple.—But the Groom "Treats".

When Iowa couples came to Maryville, regardless of the time of day or night, for the purpose of being united in the holy bonds of matrimony, they generally find the proper officials.

Steel McIntyre and Leo ("Spud") Atherton are basking in the thanks of a Creston, Ia., pair, who have hinted that these two Maryville men, the former a shoe clerk and the other an officer of the law, should start a matrimonial bureau here.

Through many difficulties Robert Freeman McDonald, 23, and Nola Irene Ward, 26, both of Creston, waded last night to procure a marriage license and a person who could tie the tie. McDonald inquired at two North-side business houses about 11:30 o'clock last night but did not find much encouragement.

McIntyre happened to drive up to the curb and was approached by McDonald, who inquired where the recorder could be found.

McIntyre obtained the counsel of Officer Atherton. Jack Greeson, recorder, was called and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Greeson was sent to open the courthouse and issued a license.

By chance Justice R. L. McDougal was passing. He hastily was drafted into service and in the recorder's office McDonald and his betrothed were married in the presence of Atherton, McIntyre, Miss Greeson and Roland Curran.

The treats were on McDonald, and he proved game.

But as the newlyweds emerged from the corner drug store, in haste to return to Creston, their automobile was missing! It is understood Officer Atherton instituted a search and found the machine parked on the east side of the Bainum Hotel.

The Iowans then sped to their home town.

Use Films at Trenton to Catch Bootleggers

Grundy County Authorities "Plant" Motion Picture Machines Where Rum Runners Bring Their Evidence.

Trenton, Mo., July 6.—Motion pictures were put to a new use here yesterday when county authorities shot scenes with a camera to gather evidence against Sam Ferguson and Roger Renfro, declared by authorities to be rival "bootleg kings" of Grundy county.

Arrest of Renfro on ten charges of liquor transportation and of Ferguson on like allegations brought to an end fifteen days and nights of effort on the part of Thomas J. Layson, prosecuting attorney, and Sheriff Dan McKinnon. To trap the pair the authorities had rented a house, had hidden observation places constructed there and employed a man and his wife to live at the house. The man, whose name is withheld, ordered the wet goods from the alleged rival booze distributors and the officers with other witnesses, looked on unobscured while Ferguson and Renfro made their deliveries, a half gallon for each trip, Layson and the sheriff say.

Two local ministers, the sheriff's wife and a former city attorney were among the witnesses sequestered at the house. A climax was reached when the prosecuting attorney took motion pictures of Ferguson and Renfro as they arrived on separate occasions. The prosecutor walked out into the open to shoot the scene from several angles as the sheriff made the arrests.

Three large cars in which it is charged liquor had been transported were confiscated, Mr. Layson said Ferguson and Renfro had been doing a thriving business, estimating it at seventy-five gallons each a week.

"They were the big wholesalers, delivering whisky to as many as twenty places to our knowledge, and competition between them was both keen and bitter," Mr. Layson said. He added the round-up of liquor law violators would continue.

Farmers Delighted by "Corn Weather"

Crop Outlook Considerably Brighter in Middle West, Grain Men Say.—Prices Holding Well.

Kansas City, Mo., July 6.—While residents of cities are sweltering with the first days of summer, farmers in the corn belt country are jubilant with the advent of real "corn weather" which is rapidly offsetting the damage done earlier in the spring from almost constant rains and cool weather.

The Missouri and Illinois corn outlook has brightened considerably in the last ten days, according to grain men here in close touch with corn conditions throughout the Middle West. Corn in Kansas is making excellent progress and with continued favorable weather a normal crop should be harvested, according to J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture.

The soil in the entire corn sections has plenty of moisture to carry the crop along for some time and most agricultural experts agree that there is no cause for complaint on the outlook for a fair yield of corn in the Middle West this year.

"The weather is ideal for corn" A. E. Anderson, of the state and federal department of agriculture at Lincoln, Neb., said in commenting on the condition of the crop in the Middle West. "With so much moisture present in the subsoil it is impossible for corn to burn before late summer if proper cultivation is maintained."

Earlier in the summer the devastating effect of the cool weather and rains were reflected in the corn future markets, where the price of corn

The Whippet

America's New-Type Light Car

Birthday Celebration

July 7th, 8th and 9th

A YEAR OLD AND STILL A YEAR AHEAD

Why the Whippet is economical

The Whippet is economical because it has:

Scientifically designed engine, efficient and durable, having,

- Small bore and long stroke.
- Small piston displacement.
- Correct manifolding.
- Cylinder heads designed to give maximum turbulence.
- Chadwick type main bearings.
- Full pressure lubrication.
- Pump cooling system.
- Silent timing chain.

Proper balance and flexible Chrome Vanadium springs, with snubbers, reduce tire wear to minimum.

Entirely modern design—insuring against excessive depreciation by becoming obsolete.

Four-wheel brakes; a car today without four-wheel brakes is not a modern car, and has greatly lessened resale value.

Careful selection and balancing of all units, accessibility for adjustment and wide margin of extra strength in all parts, plus careful assembly, reduce repairs to minimum.
